The Roaring Twenties was a decade of economic growth and widespread prosperity, driven by recovery from wartime devastation and deferred spending, a boom in construction, and the rapid growth of consumer goods such as automobiles and electricity in North America and Western Europe and a few other developed countries such as Australia. The economy of the United States, which had successfully ...

Very good article, Saker. I can say I agree with you almost completely. The crimes of the revolutionaires inspired by Marxism comes from the lack of ethics in Marx's system (one of the very few, if not only one, philosophical system with no ethics whatsoever) and its extreme stress on Revolution (understood as a violent overthrow of the current system).
